This week we talked about summer to start off summer camp. We talked about summer safety and the importance of applying sunscreen and how to be careful when we are swimming. We had fun making finger painting as well as getting messy with foam painting. We enjoyed our first water day and can't wait for next week's water day! We are looking forward to seeing what this summer will bring.

Next week we will have a backwards week theme. We will paint with ice cubes, back of the paint brush as well as the eraser part of a pencil. We are making binoculars out of toilet paper rolls. Also, we are making sock puppets. On Friday the whole school will come into school wearing their shirts backwards. It's going to be a fun and crazy week.

Please remember to apply sunscreen on your child before school; we will apply it on in the afternoon before going outside.

This week we learned about butterflies and talked about Father's Day. On Monday, we let our butterflies go free; the kids were so excited to see them fly away. Throughout the rest of the week, we were working on all our gifts for our wonderful daddies. We looked for butterflies outside with magnifying glasses, and the children made butterflies with their footprints. We had so much fun learning about butterflies and our dads this week. We wish our fathers a wonderful Father's Day on Sunday!

Next week is the beginning of summer camp. Therefore, our theme will be based on summer fun! We will make sun handprints, paint with kool-aid, color with chalk outside and have many more fun crafts and activities. Starting next week, we have five children moving up to the 3's and we are welcoming four new toddlers into our classroom. We can't wait to start off the beginning of our summer camp!
